FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE:

COTTON TOWN MUSIC CLUB, CHRISTMAS CHARITY CONCERT

Cotton Town Music Club are to host a charity Christmas Concert this December 27th 2008 at the Ukrainian Club in Oldham.

Following a successful EP launch night at the Ukrainian Club, Cotton Town Music Club have decided to return there to raise money for The Christie Foundation.

Lead singer Greg Rainey said "It's a charity near to all our hearts in CTMC and one that is so deserving. We'd been thinking about doing a Christmas Concert for some time now, and to be able to raise money for the Christie Foundation at the same time is fantastic"

The Christie Hospital is the largest treatment centre of its kind in Europe and an international leader in research and development.

Joining CTMC on the bill for this gig are acoustic artist Tea for One and local band The 99's. Bass player, Jay Moran said "Neil (Tea for One) has played with us a few times now and will also be in charge of our sound on the night. We recently played a gig at The Grotton with The 99's and feel that we compliment each others sound really well, so we asked them to play and they jumped at the chance." Greg added "We're also looking to book a crowd-pleasing fourth band, but don't want to announce anything until it's confirmed".

Tickets will be available shortly from behind the bar at Jacksons Pit or from www.cottontownmusicclub.co.uk for just £5. A limited allocation will be available on the door.
